

independent variable

A variable whose value can be chosen freely (sometimes within certain constraints) or controlled. For example, the x in $y = f(x)$ or the explanatory variable in statistical models are independent. Compare: dependent variable.